TEXAS MEASURE TO VOTE JULY 28

More Than Half of $1000 Goal Raised in 15 Minutes

EDUCATION DRIVE

$33,000,000 U. S. Aid in Balance, Says Albright

Active support of Port Arthur businessmen and individuals was enlisted today for successful passage of the amendment to the state constitution providing for a bonded system of highways throughout the state when it is submitted to a people's referendum on July 28.

At a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce at 9:30 this morning and attended by representatives of practically every business house of the city, a working committee was formed and the task of raising this city's quota of the funds necessary to carry on the campaign for passage of the amendment was begun.

Secretary Albright Speaks

Ernest C. Albright, assistant secretary of the Texas Highway association, organization conducting the campaign of information over the state regarding the full impact of the amendment, addressed the gathering.
In less than fifteen minutes after he had finished a citizens' committee had been formed and more than $700 had been subscribed to the Port Arthur quota of $1,000.

Secretary Albright pronounced

the meeting today the most enthusiastic and immediately productive gathering he has addressed in any city of the state where he has appeared on behalf of the highway movement.

Henry Lohmann was elected chairman of the committee, P. E. Gifford, vice chairman and George T. Craig, secretary. In absence of Lohmann,
Gifford took the chair.

The purpose of the constitutional amendment, which is an amendment to Article 8 of the constitution of the state of Texas, by creation of a section to be known as Section 8-A,
has fully outlined to the gathering
by Albright.

State Would Take Over Work

The present constitution of the state of Texas provides that the counties shall construct the highways and the state merely grants financial aid and Albright said.

The amendment provides that the state shall take over the creation, extension, construction, maintenance and repair of a system of connected highways throughout the state.

The state's roadbuilding activities,

however, will be restricted to connected highways—that is, roads within the state that form integral parts of national highways—while the counties will be left to care for their local roads and turnpikes.

Under the present system of county road construction, Albright pointed out, there has been built a patchwork of highways—permanent concrete roads in one county, with practically no road at all in the adjoining counties. There has been no effort at a connected system and cannot be,

as long as the roads are built within the counties.

Under state supervision, with the state highway department building out of state funds and with state and federal money, a permanent system of connected highways would result.

Compliments County

Albright complimented Port Arthur and Jefferson counties upon the

PARSLEY'S BOND IS SET AT $2,000

Charged With Assault With Attempt to Kill Gordy

After a preliminary hearing on a complaint of assault with intent to murder, Judge C. N. Ellis late yesterday placed Ernest Parsley under $2,000 bond for his appearance before the grand jury of the 60th district court now in session.

Parsley was arrested and the complaint filed against him in connection with the shooting of J. L. Gordy Monday morning.

The preliminary hearing began at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Only one of the seven witnesses, Mrs. Florence Nicas, sister of the injured man, testified that she saw the rifle fired. In her testimony she explained that she stood beside Parsley when he fired, and that her brother grabbed the weapon after he was shot.

NEWSBOY HURT BY AUTO IS IMPROVING

Carl Howe, a News route carrier struck by an automobile Monday evening on the Beaumont road, was removed to his home, 1750 Tenth street,
from Mary Gates hospital Tuesday night. He was reported as improving.

$20 Looms Big Between Fire Laddies and Spider Monk as Station Mascot

Just $20 stood between fire lad-dies at Central station and a spider monkey for a station mascot today.
Longingly the boys gathered around the monkey, brought to Central station for the inspection of the firemen. One after another took the monkey's chain and let the animal climb up to their nocks. Then, with the desire duly aroused, the monkey salesman popped the price—$20, take it or leave it.

The fire boys left it, and Central station that has had a wolf,

a Mexican cat, an alligator,
dogs without number and a West Texas rattail for mascots from time to time, is without a pet.

WEEK'S PERMITS REACH $93,986

One for $16,000 Apartment, Rest for Homes

Building permit values for one week totaling $93,986 is the new record
long up for Port Arthur.

Thirty-nine, or approximately 40 per cent of the 98 permits issued during the past seven days were for residences.

A permit for a $16,000 apartment

house, to be built at 849 Fifth street
by H. W. McCall, contractor, for J.
G. Pine was issued today, swelling the week's values. This is the only permit issued during the past seven days that exceeded $2,500.

TARPON CLUB TO TAKE 'FT. WORTH'

Ship Board Vessel To Be Fitted for City Waltons

In fishing circles it's to be the "Fort Worth."

And to seaward of the sea for the silver-scaled "king" it's The Tarpon Club of Port Arthur.

However, when the market is running and the speckled trout come schooling in, there'll be fishermen aboard awaiting them.

Most Elaborate in South

Port Arthur sportsmen are to be accommodated with a floating lodge within the next several days when the 25-foot former shipping boat vessel is jimmied in behind the vessels, safe from gulf storms. Prominent Port Arthurians, purchased the boat from Peabody Brothers of New York. They are busy now planning the most elaborate clubhouse of its kind in the south.

At a called meeting of the charter members, held last night in the Merchants National bank, John W. Tryon was elected president of the new club,

while W. E. Crumpler, Ed Vaughn, and E. P. Dodge were elected vice presidents, with A. M. McFee chosen secretary-treasurer.

Other officers included the appointment of a by-laws committee consisting of G. T. Craig, A. J. LeBlanc and O. W. Youngblood, while the committee designated to equip the boat includes Tryon and Marger Ball.

100 Members Planned

As a result of the meeting last night, it was decided that the boat will be towed to Port Arthur waters
at an early time, where lighting facilities, a refrigerating plant and other equipment will be immediately installed.

The boat, when completed, will constitute one of the most elaborate clubhouses of the south, and will be sufficiently large to accommodate a large number of patrons. It is planned to have approximately 100 members.

It was said this morning. The following list was announced as the charter membership:

M. T. Ball, L. L. Ashmore, G. T.
Craig, G. M. Craig, John W. Tryon,
A. J. LeBlanc, O. W. Youngblood, A.
V. Vaughan, Frank Imhoff, A. M.
McFee, Charles R. Stevenson, A.

Re-Arrest Bergdoll

49 ARRESTS IN GEORGIA RIOTS

One Man Killed in Attempt to Lynch Negro

TROOPS GUARD JAIL

Firemen Play Streams of Water on Mob

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 20.—Forty-nine persons were arrested here today in connection with an attempted lynching of Walter Lee, negro, during which one man was killed and several injured.

Savannah was quiet today although soldiers with fixed bayonets patrolled the vicinity of the jail where Lee, charged with attempted assault, was held.

Troops Called Out

The soldiers were called by county authorities last night when a mob of townspeople threatened to storm the jail.

The throng assembled at the fair grounds here and after milling about nearly an hour began dashing toward the jail like mad men, shouting hysterically and swinging sticks as they ran.

While the leaders were busy planning to take the terror-stricken negro, Sheriff Dixon made an impassioned appeal to the throng, warning them they would enter the jail only over his dead body.

Sheriff's Attack

His speech was greeted with a hail of bricks and sticks and he retreated to summon military aid. Firemen also were called in the emergency and they played streams of water on the frenzied crowd with little effect.

George Parker was shot through the stomach during the rioting and died a few minutes later. George Hart, also struck by a bullet, was seriously injured in the fray.

The guardsmen arrived while the rioting was at its height but the sight of uniforms and bayonets, ready for action, had a sobering effect and the crowd quickly dispersed.

structed for the occasion.

Meantime, the sun slineth for the

DRAFT SLACKER MET AT GATES

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

To Be Arraigned for Evading Draft Today

LEAVENWORTH, Kansas, June 20.—

Erwin Bergdoll, brother of the wealthy slacker, Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, was rearrested charged with conspiracy to evade the draft as he stepped from the federal penitentiary here today.

Bergdoll, plaintiff, showing the effects of his long confinement, was released from prison shortly before 12 o'clock after serving three years

for evading the draft laws.

Met by Marshals

United States marshals, armed with warrants charging conspiracy with three men in Philadelphia to escape the war draft laws, were waiting as the big gates to the prison grounds swung open and Bergdoll walked to temporary freedom.

U. S. marshal at Topeka, served the new warrant on the slacker and in company with A. R. Trobert, deputy marshal, and M. Skinner, assistant United States district attorney at Topeka, the party started by motor to Kansas City, Kansas, where Berg-doll will be arraigned.

Covers His Face

Bergdoll refused to be interviewed on any subject and refused newspapers to photograph him as he left the penitentiary, the slacker covered his face with a newspaper and dashed for the waiting automobile.

The federal officials expected to reach Kansas City, Kansas, early this afternoon. Bergdoll will immediately be taken before Federal Judge Van Valkenburg and unless bond is made before night will be returned to Philadelphia promptly.

American engineering concern, Robert day night for New York to take a ship for South America.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hill were prominent in the work of the Rudolph

BUDGET CARRIES IN ALL WARDS

Covington Loses Fight for Additional Men

Without the loss of one, every item in the city's 1923 budget carried in the election Tuesday when with only 200, the heaviest vote registered at a Port Arthur budget election in years,

was polled.

The budget item providing for 20

police, which became the storm center of a budget fight, launched by Chief of Police W. W. Covington who sought provisions for a force of 31
men, carried by substantial majorities
in all three of the city wards.

Final count on the police force personnel budget item shows the following results:

At Lin's garage, 136 for and 81
against.
At Houston avenue fire station, 132 for and 22 against.
At the city hall, 17 for and 11
against.

Tabulation of the other budget items will not be made for a day or two, when the city commission considered the election, city officials said today, but a hasty survey of the results of the election establishes the fact that all of the items carried as framed by the city commission.

Of the total 307 votes cast, 221

were polled at Lin's garage, 55 at the Houston avenue fire station, and 31 at the city hall.

Three people are dead as a result of a shooting affray at the home of W. Y. Bradford here today.

The dead are:

Mrs. Chapman's bedroom. Chapman and his wife were clad in their night-clothes. Bradford was fully dressed.

An automatic shotgun and pistol

It was believed Bradford shot and killed his daughter and son-in-law and then turned the gun on himself.

Mrs. Bradford, who was downstairs, heard the shots and rushed up to the bedroom where she found the bodies. She could offer no explanation of the killing.

All the victims were prominent here.

Chapman, a banker, was the son of J.
L. Chapman, state banking commissioner.

Bradford recently moved here from Farmersville, Texas.

SECOND OFFENSE BRINGS $25 FINE BY JUDGE DYKUS

Use of X-Ray Saves Life of Infant Child

NEW YORK, June 20.—Facing certain death because it could not breathe, a baby three days old was saved when Dr. Mary Mallon put the X-ray to the novel use of withering the child's thymus gland, a mysterious organ, functioning only in infants, and one whose real nature has long puzzled doctors.

The baby was brought to the New York Infirmary for women and children 10 days ago. Because of professional reasons, Dr. Mallon declines to discuss the case. The following details, however, were obtained from a responsible source:

The baby appeared entirely normal at birth, but two days later it ceased breathing. It was rushed to the infirmary, where artificial respiration was applied through use of tanks of oxygen. It was made to breathe again, but breathing ceased every time the oxygen was shut off.

The internes at the hospital formed watches and kept up artificial respiration for 24 hours. During this time a careful X-ray examination was made and it was discovered the thymus gland was enlarged.

This organ is a small ductless gland found between the heart and the root of the neck. It exists in babies and young mammals. Normally, it begins atrophy a short time after birth (either disappearing or remaining only as an unused remnant).

Before birth a child does not breathe. After a normal birth it does. Exactly what causes this remarkable physical change has long been a source of wonder to medical science.

It now appears that the thymus gland has something to do with it. The gland dies, perhaps, because its work has been accomplished when the baby starts to breathe. In the case of this baby the thymus gland, refusing to die, started growing.

Under these conditions, Dr. Mallon decided to apply a withering treatment by X-ray. The gland was started along its normal route toward atrophy. Six hours later the baby breathed normally. It is now at home, normal in every respect.

The case has opened an interesting possibility of saving many babies who die immediately after birth because they cannot be made to breathe.

Court Orders House Moved; City Forbids Owner to Touch It

OAKLAND, Cal., June 20.—Thomas N. Small of Oakland has a house which, in its modest, inanimate way, is a parallel of the man who was all dressed up and had no place to go.

Small bought the house some days ago with the intention of moving it from its original site on some school property to a lot he owned. He completed the work of moving it. The park department entered a complaint against topping off tree branches that interfered with the house's progress, and the residents in the neighborhood of Small's lot protested that the house wouldn't carry out the architectural scheme of their district. Small's permit to move the house through the streets was cancelled.

The house rested quietly in the middle of Harwood street, while Small sought an injunction against revocation of his permit. Now the temporary injunction he obtained had been cancelled, and the courts have given him until Friday to remove the house.

But Small cannot move the structure back to its original site or ahead to any other site, or sideways. And nobody in Oakland has a bed room big enough to lift it.

Excitement Results From Discovery of Camp Logan Leper

HOUSTON, Texas, June 20.—Cases of leprosy are rare in Houston that when authorities at Camp Logan today announced that a former soldier had contracted the disease, none of the local officials knew what to do with him.

The district attorney called on the city health officer and the city health officer called on the county judge. The county judge put on a long distance call for the state health officer. The state health officer was not in Austin.

None of the hospitals in the city would take the patient. Camp Logan is to be evacuated tomorrow.

The man who has the disease contracted it, or developed it, after the war. Therefore, his illness was not "contracted in line of duty" and the veterans bureau can not take charge of him. No one can account for the manner in which the man contracted the illness.

Local officials are of the opinion that state officials can make arrangements for the man to be sent to the leper colony near New Orleans.

FIRST WEATHER BUREAU IN 1869

Cincinnati Goes Honor of Establishment

CINCINNATI, June 20.—At last, the weather bureau has been established in Cincinnati, the first in the country to establish a meteorological bureau for the benefit of the public, according to officials here.

The bureau was established in 1869, after Professor Cleveland Abbe, a director of the astronomical bureau at Mount Airy, made an extensive experiment of the advisability of collecting weather data and disseminating it. The data was collected by the Western Union Telegraph company and brought to the attention of Professor Abbe, where he was able to forecast the weather.

In September 1, 1903, the first bulletin of the Cincinnati observatory was issued and placed in conspicuous places. A biography of the bureau came from far and wide to view the chart. The observatory was on the spot on which the observatory now stands.

A year later the secretary of war ordered that meteorological observations be made at every army post in the interior of the country and on the coast. The observatory was described to give "warning of approach and probable force of winds." In 1871 General A. J. Dyer was made chief of the army meteorological service and directed Professor Abbe to prepare "probabilities of" warnings.

It was of importance of weather observations soon became obvious and in 1875 of the same year the Associated Press made arrangements to telegraph to its members. This is the first use of the weather report.

Professor Abbe died here several years ago. The government, in honor of him named the weather bureau at Cincinnati, and a suburb, the Weather Observatory.

The experiments will not begin in earnest until winter, Major Halloran said. Tanks of the various gases are then taken to the smoke-filled areas and the results closely observed.

Crowned Boy's Body Found in Redstone Creek Near Loveland

LOVELAND, Ohio, June 20.—The body of Henry Gano, 17-year-old boy, was drowned in the Redstone creek half a mile below the city. A fisher found the body in a field and took it to the creek. His body was found in the creek. His body was found in the creek. His body was found in the creek.

FOLLOWING BIG RAIN FARMER FINDS GOLD

QUITMAN, Texas, June 20.—Late reports from the farm of T. L. Norton near here are that it rained during a recent shower.

Norton found a gold coin in a field after a downpour. The coin was dated 1855. Despite its age the gold piece looked as bright as the day it was made, according to the farmer.

The coin was found on a mound which is purported to be an Indian mound.

KENNEDY IS CENTER OF GREEN BRIGADE REUNION

Prison Painting May Bring Pardon to Man Held as Convict in the Atlanta Penitentiary

The prison painting, Max Sasnoff (inset), well known artist, painted it and calls it a memorial to Father Hayden, chaplain of the prison in which Sasnoff is confined.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 19.—Locked in prison, a convicted felon, Max Sasnoff paints his masterpiece. A long time ago, someone wrote, "Stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage."

And when Sasnoff came down to the "big gray house," he remembered those lines. Outside, he told himself, he was an artist and opera singer. "I will not change," he swore.

Secret service men, running down counterfeits in New York City, uncovered a band. Among those locked up was Sasnoff. They charged him with making the plate used to print spurious currency.

He told the court he had honestly believed himself free of guilt when he started to make the plate. He added that when he did find out what he was doing, he tried to quit, but others forced him to continue under threat of death. Conviction. Three years.

In prison Sasnoff met Father Hayden, prison chaplain. The priest inspired the painter in him. Then within the prison walls, Max started to work.

For six months he painted. He was up with the sun. They had to force him to quit late at night. And now his canvas measuring 8 by 15 feet, is nearing completion. It shows the Christ ministering to the lame the halt, and the blind.

And while he works, Max sings. He says he did in opera with Caruso and the famous Chabrier. His rich, well-trained tenor notes fill the drab place like sunshine.

Sasnoff likes to sing. He likes to paint. And those who know him outside say if anything, his artistic powers have broadened and multiplied in the dank air of the place society throws its outcasts.

Now it appears Sasnoff's artistic ability may win him a pardon from the remainder of the three-year term. Friends are busy.

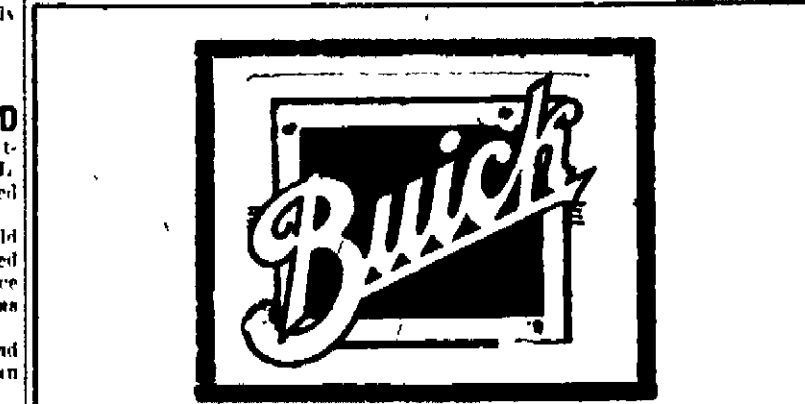

In trying for the pardon, they pointed out the many canvases he has completed, painting his best known work is a picture of the world war, which now hangs in the congressional library in Washington, D. C.

Father Hayden, in saying how glad he was to have that Max got his release, told of a picture at Leavenworth, Kan., who painted a picture. The president of the United States, on a visit, issued a pardon immediately on seeing the work.

"And that picture," says Father Hayden, "is not as good as the one Max has painted. This is one of the finest mural decorations I ever have seen anywhere."

Virginia Here From Tampico

The Texas Company tanker Virginia arriving today from Tampico, will discharge cargo at both the Port Arthur and Port Neches terminals of the company.

Bolt Hits Tankers

Advices from Galveston that lightning recently struck the masts on two tankers, one at Galveston, the other at Texas City, gives Port Arthur ship piling men "something to think about," according to the opinion expressed by one today. One of the tankers struck by lightning had a wooden mast extending out of the top of the steel mast, while the mast on the other ship was splintered by the bolt of lightning.

While unheard of along Port Arthur's water front, a tank ship fired by lightning is a possibility and would be even more serious than a storage tank struck by lightning. It is pointed out. Instances of lightning striking ships is practically unheard of.

PEOPLE PICTURE OF HEALTH OFTEN SUFFER FROM HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Many people who seem to be strong and healthy never know they have high blood pressure until they are examined for life insurance. If they have high blood pressure, their insurance is refused.

High Blood Pressure is usually a symptom that the poisonous wastes of the body are accumulating in the intestinal tract. Fortunately the danger signal of splitting headaches, your stomach, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, ringing in the ears are present and warn us that we are liable to high blood pressure.

A well-known physician has recently made a discovery of a new formula that in many cases reduces high blood pressure quickly and easily. This new preparation is put up in convenient tablet form and is called Bi-a-lin. It helps Nature reduce the blood pressure by thoroughly cleansing out the poisons which have caused the heart to overtax itself in efforts to overcome their harmful effects. Remarkable results have been reported even in obstinate and long-standing cases. Ask your druggist his opinion of Bi-a-lin and what wonderful results. Get Bi-a-lin today and you'll be surprised to see how rapidly your distress vanishes and how quickly a wonderful new feeling of power and vigor arrives. You can get Bi-a-lin at all good druggists with a guarantee to return every cent you paid for it if you do not get wonderful results from the very first bottle. LETTER FROM PRISCILLA BRADFORD TO MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT.

MY DEAR FRIEND:

Things are not as bad as they looked at first. Of course, knowing that you would be heartbroken if they had been found to be as I thought they were, I am hastening to write to you.

Young Mrs. Prescott, I learn, is here with her mother and father seeing her younger sister off for London. But you can see how lax the entire family is when I tell you that this younger sister is going abroad without an escort or chaperon.

Mr. Whitney seems to be one of the party everywhere they go and I do not understand why he and Mrs. Prescott were alone together on the night which I saw them, for since that time, until the boat left this morning, the whole party inclusive of even Mr. Hamilton, seemed to be on pleasure bent.

Of course I have not called upon Mrs. Prescott, but I have met her. I would remember me to her friend, Sarah Penhaly, and I have managed to see them often, for we sit almost daily for quite a while in the Peacecock Alley of their hotel watching the crowds passing to and fro.

Mrs. Prescott is wearing some gorgeous clothes. I presume they are a part of her trousseau. I wonder that she care to show all this fashion when her husband is not with her.

I overheard someone say the other night as they passed us, "Yes, that is the Hamilton family of Pittsburgh and the young man with them is Karl Whitney. Immensely rich, you know. Wanted to marry the older daughter, but now seems to have transferred his affections to the younger one."

"They are all here to see the younger one off on a trip to Europe. I expect your son, poor fellow, is working hard at home. Isn't that like the modern American man who works early and late that his wife may revel in luxury?"

I am sure if I loved a man enough to marry him—which I probably never shall—I should try to be a real helpmate to him.

I am coming home tomorrow and will tell you everything in detail. I only stayed over until Alice Hamilton's boat sailed as I was rather anxious to see if Mrs. Prescott was really going to London with her sister. I thought it might be possible, you know.

As it was, however, the young Miss Hamilton sailed away alone with only the attendance of her maid, who, while she was quite elderly, looked rather stupid.

I expect when I arrive your house will be painted and looking like new. Do you know, dear friend, that lovely old house seems more to me like home than any other in the world. I almost love every stick of furniture in it as devotedly as you do. I don't think it is unbecomingly and its taste impeccable. Affectionately yours, PRISCILLA BRADFORD.

TOMORROW: Paula Perier to John Alden Prescott—All love letters returned, but one!

PRINCE IS DEMOCRATIC: DISLIKES 'HIS ROYALTY'

LONDON, June 26.—Lady Astor likes to bring people together at her dinners. At one of her recent entertainments she had among her guests the prince of Wales and Will Thorne, the socialist labor leader and member of parliament. Thorne now tells this story:

"I said to the prince I would doubtless be unpleasantly criticized by some of my constituents for putting my feet under the table with royalty. The prince smilingly replied: 'I object to royalty, Mr. Thorne, but I don't mind being called the prince of Wales.'"

HE THINKS HIS LIFE ONLY WORTH DIME

NEW YORK, June 26.—After Harry Brown, 40, a carpenter, had jumped into the East river he was rescued by Thomas Kabok who used a boat hook in dragging him out. A doctor revived Brown with a pulmotor. The latter then explained: "I dropped a dime overboard and jumped in to get it. I got only a nickel. Give me another chance and I'll get the other one."

FIRST NEWS OF SON TELLS OF HIS CRIME

DEN MOINES, Iowa, June 19.—Mrs. Elizabeth Woodyard, 51-year-old mother of Samuel Lewis Woodyard, heard from her roving son for the first time in months Friday.

"No, it's not true, it can't be my Sammy," sobbed the aged mother as the story of her son's part in the murder of John B. Jones was unfolded by her daughter Thelma, 17.

The 20-year-old youth is in a Baltimore jail with an alias of William J. Murphy. Three years ago he deserted his mother here and has since been honorably discharged from the marine corps, recalled and deserted.

The mother has been forced to become a scrub-woman in a bank to support herself. Word of her son's confession came to the daughter Thursday night, but she delayed telling her mother until she returned from work Friday morning.

Just as he expected. Brown—There was something strange about that check of yours. It came blank marked "No funds."

Black—Nothing strange about that. If it hadn't come back, then it would have been strange.—Exchange.

NO HELP FOR IT

"John," said a Houston grocer the other day to one of his clerks. "You have been a faithful and competent clerk, and in order to show my appreciation, I have decided to take you out of the store. From this time on you are to have a share in the business, and be a member of the firm."

"But, sir," said John anxiously, "I have a family to support. I appreciate the honor, but I fear I am too young for the responsibility. I would much rather retain my present place."

"Can't help it," said the grocer. "Times are hard and I've got to cut down expenses if I have to take every clerk in the house into the firm."

In the hush of the drowsy afternoon. In the hush of the drowsy afternoon. When the very mind on the breast of June Lies settled, and not white tracery Of the shattered sunlight flitters free Through the unstinted leaves to the pined cool air.

On a dead three-bladed singe the saddest bird Of the birds that be. 'Tis the lone Pewee. Its note is a sob, and its song is pitched In a single key like a soul bewitched To a mournful minstrelsy.

"Pewee, Pewee," doth it ever cry: A sad, sweet minor thrudery That threads the aisles of the dim hot grove. Like a tale of a wrong or a vanished love.

And the fancy comes that the wee wee bird Perchance was a maid, and her heart was stricken By some lover's rhyme In a golden time.

And broken when the world turned false and odd: And her dreams grew dark and her faith grew cold. In some fairy far-off clime, And her soul crept into the Pewee's breast:

And forever she cries with a strange unrest For something lost, in the afternoon: For something missed from the larva June; For the heart that died in the long ago;

For the living pain that pierceeth so. Thus the Pewee cries. While the evening lies Steeped in the languorous still sunshine.

Rapt, to the leaf and bough and the vine. Of some hopeless paradise.

YOU AND I

Why are there two sexes? Nobody knows, says Dr. Myerson in his new book, "The Foundations of Personality." Males and females as separate individuals are relatively recent institutions, measured by the infinite time so far passed in evolution.

In the primitive life-forms, the individual has children by simply dividing itself into halves. You can see this under a microscope if you seek a scientist some evening instead of the movies.

Plant life includes another system—combining two sexes in the one individual. Queer mysteries, life and reproduction.

"CURES"

Why are most of us more interested in cures than in prevention of diseases? Dr. Clifford Alburt wants to know. Can it be possible that we nurse a subconscious hope of having the disease as an experience, and being assured of recovering?

Let the medical profession announce a cure, and it is shouted from the house tops. But when they announce how to prevent the malady, how to dodge it entirely, interest is mild. That's why campaigns for prevention of diseases usually flake.

CONTRACTS

Business transacted by telephone or telegraph is as binding upon individuals or business as though they had made their agreement in writing. So decides the District of Columbia court of appeals.

However, we're gradually getting away from the attitude of "get him down on the dotted line and hold him to it." The trend is toward a general recognition that a contract usually is not ethically binding unless it is mutually profitable and equitable. That's common honesty.

READERS

The first American newspaper to be printed in color. Both Foreign and Domestic. It was started in 1888 and has since been a constant feature of the newspaper world. It is a color paper and is a very interesting and useful paper.

WHAT IT MEANS

President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor says that the minimum wage decision is an affront to the soul and the conscience of America. This is what he said for publication. That which he did not say for publication was unfit to print.

Vice-President Mathew Woll of the American Federation of Labor has another point of view. He says that the decision means the end of the Industrial Court of Kansas and the injunction against the railroad shop men who struck last June.

If congress can not enact a minimum wage law for the women wage workers for the District of Columbia, then how is it possible for the railroad labor board to enact a wage scale for the rail employees of America?

This five to four decision appears to have swept away a batch of congressional and state statutes. Now organized labor and the law makers of the country will be compelled to travel the same road again.

NOT FOR SHAW

Colonel Nathaniel Shaw of Texas will not be given a place on the Federal Reserve Board. President Harding has changed his mind again. The president named James McNary of El Paso as comptroller of the currency. A republican senator, Cousens of Michigan, defeated confirmation. Now the head of the administration has decided that he will go to the west of the far west for a dirt farmer for the federal reserve board. McNary was offered a recess appointment. He spurned it. He did not need a job. He is a man of independent fortune and capable of hoeing his own row.

Midland is a claimant for the Texas Tech. This makes sixty-four claimants with belated returns to come in. Texas Tech. appears to be the most popular college in the southwest. This, before it has a president or a home.

Floyd county farmers are going to give sugar cane a trial. Farmers of the nearby county are going to give the sugar beet a trial. Americans eat more sugar per capita than any other people on the map and all American housewives admit that there is big money in sugar for the refiners this year.

WHY THE NOISE?

Fort Worth has a Chamber of Commerce. Fort Worth calls itself an oil city. Fort Worth business men have entered a protest against the unfavorable publicity received by that city over the nation through the investigation of alleged oil swindling cases there.

Exaggeration of the situation by newspapers of the north and the east, to the detriment of Fort Worth, was charged. It was asserted that none of the oil projects which may be found illegitimate are headed by Fort Worth men.

A federal agent of the department of justice says that it cost the suckers of America $100,000,000 a year for five years to fatten the pockets of promoters and sellers of illegitimate oil stocks.

Why blame the newspapers? Why blame the department of justice? Why blame the suckers? Why not blame the fakers?

They are responsible for the unfavorable publicity. They did not get all that was coming to them. They may get it before the department of justice abandons the chase.

PIPE-LINE TAX INVALID

Texas lawmakers placed a tax on pipe-line companies. The law was declared unconstitutional. West Virginia lawmakers placed a tax on pipe-line companies and the supreme court of West Virginia declared the law invalid. Now the supreme court of the United States has upheld the decision of the supreme court of West Virginia. This for the Texas lawmakers who are said to be on guard against jokers.

Now the Sheppard-Towner maternity act is pending before the supreme court of the United States. This is a guessing match. There is another five to four decision coming.

ALL HAIL FOURTH OF JULY

Professor Jack Dempsey has been offered $100,000 to meet Professor Tommy Gibbons in a fifteen-round educational debate to take place somewhere in Montana.

Professors Dempsey and Gibbons are widely known Americans. They are high-degree culturalists. They teach the young idiosyncrasy to box.

The winner of the coming event will take down more money than all the college presidents in Texas will be paid between this time to 1930. Professor Dempsey graduated from the College of Hobo-land; Professor Gibbons from the New York College of Hard-Knocks. Each has a P. G. degree.

They have signed for a 4th of July event and hope to give credit to themselves and the fathers of the republic when the ring master tells them to go.

This is a wonderful country. Professor Dempsey admits it; Professor Gibbons whispers it. Education comes high in this fair land of ours and the two eminent professors herein are doing their best to push the cause along.

BIG POSTAL GAINS

An official bulletin shows that Fort Worth leads the United States in increase of postoffice receipts with a gain of more than forty-eight per cent and the gain in fifty first-class post offices was greater in March than any other month so far during the present fiscal year, which ends June 30. Fort Worth registered a greater percentage of increase, but Dallas collected more money, having a gain of approximately $60,000. Department officials say that since 1882 there has not been such a great increase of postal business in the United States as that reported for March of this year. This should hold the croakers for awhile.

Russia is shipping millions of bushels of wheat to the Ruhr district for the German workers who are on strike. This is generous but five millions Russians are starving in the Volges district and there is no Russian aid for them. Russia is shipping rye in large quantities to Finland. Isn't it true that charity begins at home?

And now comes the London Times with an appeal for a world tribunal to decide the reparations issue. Will Uncle Sam be invited to sit in? European governments owe him $11,000,000,000, not as reparations but as money or credits advanced in world war time. It must be great to be the banker for the world with the creditors hoping for cancellation of the debts.

The common man of yesterday was a serf, a peasant, bound to task, whose significance he did not know, and for whose results he had small care. The common man of today is the citizen, a sovereign, a voter, truly a participant in determining the fate and destiny of the state.—President Wilson.

I was about three or four years younger than I am right now. I say gave used to get together and swap stories on what they'd do if they had oodles of dough," said Wesley Barry. "We didn't talk of millions then."

"There was 'Skinny' Jones and 'Red' Simpson. Skinny used to think it'd be wonderful to have $1000. He said he would change it all into pennies and spend the rest of his life counting them, one by one. Red thought it'd be great fun to have a whole chain of candy stores, and just keep on visiting them, one after the other, eating candy on the way."

"But the first thing I'd do would be to buy a brand new house with every improvement."

"Then I'd take me out for a walk and reach the place. I'd say to her, sort of casual like, 'MR. do you like that shack over yonder?' She'd say, 'I certainly think it's wonderful,' and

ANTON LANG COMING TO AMERICA THIS FALL

NEW YORK, June 20.—Led by Anton Lang, who plays the part of the Christus in the world-famous Oberammergau Passion Play, the chief members of the cast will come to this country in September to sell the handicraft of the villagers here to pay for another production.

The Passion Play of 192 left the villagers impoverished. By the time the play closed the mark had fallen so that the best seats brought out about four cents in American money.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

Mister Toots, the engineer, started his tiny engine and the Choo-Choo Express went chugging away. "What is the next station?" Nick asked Mr. Punch, the conductor. "It's called Ball Town," Mister Punch told him. "Does the train stop there?" asked Nancy. "Yes, indeed," answered Mister Punch kindly. "And as we have to fix something under one of the cars, you can get off for half an hour." "Then we'll hunt for Ruby Joan," said Nancy eagerly. "Maybe she has come here to play ball." "Or see a ball game?" smiled Mister Punch, helping them off as the train slowed down. But Nancy didn't hear him she was so interested in what she saw. A stout football with his jacket laced tight to his chin was walking along and talking to a still fatter basketball, each insisting that he was thinner than the other. Like most fat people, neither of them liked to be fat. They were talking so much and so loud that Nancy had to speak three times before they heard her. "Did we see a rag doll?" Well, she should say not," replied Mister Poot to Nancy's question. "But you might ask the basketball. He's more interested in rag than we are, for they say he's stuffed with rags or strings or something like that. We are filled with air." "Thank you," said the Twins politely, hurrying off and catching up with the basketball. "Nope," said Mister Baseball. "Didn't see her. Ask the rubber ball or the jackball. They're more for girls. You might ask the tennis ball, too, and the golf ball, and the tennis pin ball. Someone may know something about her." But nobody did. The disappointed Twins went back to their train and the Choo-Choo Express chugged away. (To Be Continued) (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)

Wife Wishes Husband Misery in Hell With No Cooling Breezes

Denver, June 20.—"I hope you die and go to hell without a fan!" This questionable consolation, alleged to have been administered by Mrs. Amelia White to her husband as he lay near death in a hospital, won Joseph White a preliminary decree of divorce in the county court. "I think it's a little excessive to confine a man to the nether regions and then try to deprive him of whatever comfort he might be able to derive from a fan," commented Judge Duane of Littleton, before whom the case was tried. The whites were married in 1917.

MOST OF NEW CURES FOR FRAUDS, SAYS MAYO

NEW YORK, June 20.—Widely circulated reports of reputed cures and generally proved medical skill—witness Dr. W. J. Mayo, Rochester, Minn., declared as he sailed Wednesday to accept honorary degrees from a number of European universities. Asked whether cancer is increasing he replied: "It is because life is longer we hear more of cancer. The span of life in the last 60 years has increased from 40 to 52 years. As cancer usually strikes the body after 40, perhaps this is the explanation." Keep away from Chicago. Chicago has brass band contests. Miss Wayne of Portland, Ore., can stand on her head 14 minutes. Girls will be boys.

Oh, Girls! You've Had New Degree Pinned on By a Professor in Yale

NEW YORK, June 20.—The degree of A. D. Sumner Cum Laude—“Able drinker, with the highest praise”—if you want it in plain English—was conferred on the American girl by Chalmers Brewster Tinker, professor of literature at Yale university. Then he sailed for Europe. In fact, he waited until the last minute before the girl, who was in the class of 1933, was called to the stage. She was the first American girl to receive this honor. The degree was conferred on her by the Yale University. The degree was conferred on her by the Yale University. The degree was conferred on her by the Yale University.
